

WELCOME TO OUR MONTHLY COLUMN

Dementia: hearing loss could accelerate cognitive decline

Hearing loss could accelerate the cognitive decline that accompanies dementia, says a study. Wearing a hearing aid could therefore slow this decline, which reminds us of the importance of ensuring maximum stimulation of the brain to optimize the chances of maintaining health.